View Point Health Care Management Entity

<https://www.myviewpointhealth.org/about/programs-a-to-z/>

The Care Management Entity (CME) serves youth throughout Georgia with significant behavioral health needs who are at risk of out of home placements. The CME is a partnership with the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities' Community Based Alternatives for Youth (CBAY) program. A strength-based, family-driven approach focused on developing self-sufficiency; building natural supports; and increasing family capacity to respond to crises. The evidence-based practice model used is called High Fidelity Wraparound, which is a team-based process, demonstrating outcomes in reducing restrictive placements; improving functioning in school, home and community so that youth can thrive in their community.

Medicaid/SSI/NOW/COMP Waivers

Good explanation about waivers: First, eligibility for the NOW/Comp waivers require that the individual must have a developmental disability; and secondly, they must be Medicaid eligible. There is, of course, more to the definitions of DD and Medicaid eligible which would require more time to explain, but this is the simple eligible requirements.

Individuals from birth to death can receive the waiver. The NOW/COMP waiver does NOT waive financial eligibility for Medicaid, it waives the limitations on certain services that regular Medicaid requires you be institutionalized in order to receive. NOW/Comp waivers are Home and Community Based Service waivers (HCBS) which allow for those services to be provided in the home and community rather than institutions. There are waiting lists because these services are not an entitlement under Medicaid. You do not have to be on Medicaid in order to be on the waiting list, but you do have to be Medicaid eligible. Anyone who needs the level of care that NOW/COMP waivers provide is Medicaid eligible UNLESS they are excluded because of immigration status or because of their own financial eligibility (not their parents).
